

Artwork Shipping and Collection Related to COVID-19 Government Directives

To our valued collectors,

Due to government directives related to COVID-19, we are currently unable to confirm shipping dates or exact timing for works to be released. For all works purchased in our March, April and May online auctions, Heffel will be offering complimentary soft-packing and insurance for all shipments, as well as complimentary storage for up to six months.

In order to move promptly once we are able to commence shipping, we ask that buyers complete and submit payment online, as well as a Shipping Authorization Form for Property here, also included with your purchase invoice. If you pay for your shipping fees through our website, you will be refunded for the soft-packing and insurance fees the following business day. Please note that timing for shipping and pick-ups is subject to government directives.

For any questions, we encourage you to visit our website for contact details of your local office.

We thank you for your interest and engagement, and wish you and your loved ones health and safety.

- The Heffel Team
